Committed to ensure Canada remains the most responsible and sustainable producer of energy our world needs

The Canadian Energy Executive Association (CEEA) brings together senior stakeholders focused on progressing the Canadian energy industry. We believe our nation's greatest successes are secured through strategic partnerships. For CEEA, the fabric of true accomplishment is woven through collaboration of operators, service providers, indigenous communities, policy-makers, academia, investors, and everyday Canadian citizens.

Are we getting anywhere?

Keynote: Hon. Jean Charest

CEEA was the first energy-industry association to start talking about the big picture. Jean Charest was one of the early politicians to talk to us on the issues of the day, headwinds, geopolitics, and the significance of jurisdictional strategy. Today we are seeing the story play out. Inside and outside of Canada, stakeholders at every level appear to be either fully supportive or totally against our industry. Mr. Charest will speak to the progress our industry is making and how things are starting to look up.

Is anyone in Charge?

Panel 1: First Nations and Blockades

If you're in Canada and have a cell phone, television, computer, or radio, you have been made well aware of stakeholder frustrations; they are on full display. Learn about the sources of frustration, elected & hereditary chiefs, the pre-colonial system, and who is really in charge.

Energy events & Social Media

Panel 2: A new group of pundits

Sometimes seen on mainstream media, but always on display with social media. Meet a few of the more interesting commentators on current events, hear their take on the issues, learn about the term "filter bubble" and grab your popcorn in case a twitter war breaks out.
